

Stoel Rives LLP, a business law firm with nearly 400 attorneys operating out of 11 offices in the intermountain west, actively represents the oil and gas, pipelines and mining industries in their operations on public and private lands. Our experienced attorneys are prepared to assist with all aspects of development—from land acquisition to joint venture agreements, financing, permitting and environmental compliance. We have deep experience working with the land management and environmental protection agencies in most western states.

We are pleased to be a sponsor of the Thursday evening Reception and we look forward to reconnecting with familiar faces and meeting new attendees. Please say hello to the nine attorneys from the Stoel Rives Oil and Gas, Pipelines & Mining team who are in attendance at the conference.

Kevin J. Beaton
Boise
kjbeaton@stoel.com
(208) 387-4214

- George Washington University, J.D., 1983, with honors
- Boston College, B.S., 1979, magna cum laude

Kevin Beaton is a partner of the firm practicing in the areas of environmental, administrative, and natural resources law with an emphasis on water quality, Clean Water Act permitting, Endangered Species Act consultations, water rights and related federal and state environmental enforcement actions.

Jennie L. Bricker
Portland
ljbricker@stoel.com
(503) 294-9631

- Lewis & Clark Law School, J.D., 1997, magna cum laude, Environmental Law Certificate
- University of Oregon, M.A., English, 1988
- University of Oregon, B.A., 1986, magna cum laude

Jennie Bricker is a partner of the firm practicing natural resources law. Her practice focuses on water law, waterways, and wetlands. One of Oregon's most knowledgeable attorneys on navigability for title, Jennie advises riparian property owners about their rights to submerged and submersible lands. Please join Jennie on Saturday morning from 8:50-9:50 am during her presentation on "Lake Beds and River Channels: Legal Issues in Boundaries and Ownership."

Heath Curtiss
Portland
hcurtiss@stoel.com
(503) 294-9810

- Lewis & Clark Law School, J.D., 2006, cum laude
- Oregon State University, B.S., 2002, summa cum laude

Heath Curtiss focuses his practice on water rights, mining, oil and gas, timber and agribusiness. He has experience structuring and negotiating transactions, as well as permitting projects on public and private lands.

Jerry R. Fish
Portland
jrfish@stoel.com
(503) 294-9620

- Northwestern School of Law of Lewis & Clark College, J.D., 1982, magna cum laude
- University of Chicago, M.A.T., 1974
- Princeton University, A.B., geology, 1971

Jerry Fish is a partner of the firm concentrating his practice in natural resources law, with an emphasis on matters relating to oil and gas exploration and storage, hydroelectric project relicensing and compliance, and mining for gold, silver, copper, coal and industrial minerals.

CONTINUE READING →

Richard R. Hall
Boise
rrhall@stoel.com
(208) 387-4211

- University of Chicago Law School, J.D., 2003
- Brigham Young University, B.S., Civil Engineering, 1999

Richard Hall's practice focuses on mining, natural resources and public lands law. He represents clients in operational and regulatory matters relating to the acquisition, due diligence, title review, permitting and maintenance of mineral, surface and access rights required to support mining, energy and industrial projects.

John S. Kirkham
Salt Lake City
jskirkham@stoel.com
(801) 578-6956

- University of Utah College of Law, J.D., 1971
- University of Utah, B.A., 1968, cum laude, with honors

John Kirkham is a partner of the firm with extensive experience in the representation of clients involved in all aspects of the coal industry. He has experience in mining, public land, water, geothermal and environmental law. John has represented clients involved in the development and utilization of oil and gas, precious metals, uranium, potash, limestone, phosphate, synthetic fuels, silica, tungsten, copper and gilsonite. His experience also includes the representation of utilities and pipeline companies.

Eric L. Martin
Portland
elmartin@stoel.com
(503) 293-9593

- Stanford Law School, J.D., 2008
- University of Vermont, M.S., Historic Preservation, 2003
- Gustavus Adolphus College, B.A., 2000, summa cum laude, Phi Beta Kappa

Eric Martin's practice focuses on land use, permitting, natural resources, and development helping clients with industrial, commercial, institutional, and mixed-used projects in both urban and rural settings. His experience includes representing clients before local governing bodies, the Oregon Land Use Board of Appeals, and the Oregon Court of Appeals.

Ramona L. Monroe
Seattle
rlmonroe@stoel.com
(206) 386-7524

- Northwestern School of Law of Lewis & Clark College, J.D., 1993
- University of Washington, B.A. International Studies, 1988

Ramona Monroe focuses her practice on federal, state and local permitting processes particularly for energy projects. Her experience includes hydroelectric facility relicensing and decommissioning, aggregate mining and processing, and oil and gas development.

Joseph J. Perkins, Jr.
Anchorage
jjperkins@stoel.com
(907) 263-8414

- University of Denver College of Law, J.D., 1979
- Princeton University, B.S.E., geological engineering, 1976, with high honors

Joe Perkins is a partner of the firm focusing his practice on the representation of mining companies, oil and gas companies, Native corporations and financial institutions in connection with mining and oil and gas properties, transactions and projects. He also has been retained as an expert witness in cases involving complex questions of mining law, oil and gas law and professional responsibility.